Mediation is a free service available through the St. Clair County Friend of the Court to assist parties in resolving custody and/or parenting time issues. Mediation is voluntary and both parties must agree to participate. During mediation, the parties will meet with a mediator, discuss issues and attempt to reach an agreement. Communications between the parties and mediator are confidential, and may not otherwise be used by the Friend of the Court or the Court. If an agreement is reached through mediation, either the Friend of the Court or your attorney will prepare a consent order reflecting your agreement. If no agreement is reached, you may still use the conventional way of settling disputes, which may include a Friend of the Court referee hearing and/or filing a motion for modification of your current parenting time/custody order.

[ ] I am requesting a joint meeting to discuss the following issues:
